Key Features

- Content from hundreds of key economic series, collected from primary sources
- Easily accessible in a convenient web-based interface with no software installation required
- Data can be downloaded daily, weekly, monthly and quarterly frequencies
- Access up to 70 years of data history for numerous data series
- Over 550 U.S. economic data variables followed and updated throughout each day
- Includes a Calendar of forward economic variable’s announcement dates
- Detailed and substantive data item definitions, including data sources
- XML or ASCII delivery

Key Economic Time-Series Data in a Convenient and Easy-to-Use Desktop Application

Uncertainties and increased risk in today’s economic markets require timely and reliable data. With no need for software installation, access the latest economic data in a powerful, easy to use web based application in just a few mouse clicks.

Mergent Online features U.S. economic time series data collected from primary sources and updated daily with content across hundreds of key economic series in daily, weekly, monthly and quarterly frequencies.

How can Mergent Economic Database help you?

- Get the latest economic data, updated on a daily basis
- Combine long term forecasts and current economic data for complete analysis
- Access hundreds on key economic series all in one powerful business research tool

How often is Mergent Economic Database updated?

Mergent’s Economic database is updated daily with the latest data releases for over 550 U.S. economic data variables, direct from primary sources. The latest data, together with our emphasis on high quality, make Mergent Economic Database a reliable source for economic data.

Data Series Categories include:

- Commodities
- Construction
- Consumer Credit
- Debt Outstanding
- Employment
- Energy
- Exchange Rates
- Federal Reserve Data
- GDP
- Government
- Income
- Interest Rates
- Durable Goods
- Retail
- Trade
- Production
- Monetary Aggregates
About Mergent Online

Mergent Online delivers a suite of comprehensive financial information with the accuracy, timeliness and transparency that is absolutely essential in today’s marketplace. Through Mergent Online users leverage Mergent’s unique history and experience, built on a century of transforming data into knowledge.

At Mergent, We Believe that Experience is the Starting Point for Innovation.

For more than a century Mergent has been a trusted partner to academic, corporate, and financial research professionals and institutions worldwide. We know data, and although our product may change as our clients’ needs evolve one thing never changes—our commitment to partnering with our clients, sharing our expertise, and making their priorities our own.

Today we’re building on our experience transforming data into knowledge by combining our unique experience with the latest technology to create new data solutions for our clients. From powerful desktop applications, advanced data collection services and investment index creation to print manuals, equity research and customized data feeds; our product line is vast and growing.

But that’s only part of the story. We’ve built our business around clients, not products. Every Mergent product today was developed in response to a specific client need, and we view every client relationship as a partnership dedicated to building value.

For every client there is an ideal solution, and we’ll work with you to make it a reality.

Learn more, at www.mergent.com