Reference Universe

The only Cumulative index to Electronic and Print Reference Works.
Enhancing the value of your Reference Collection

What is Reference Universe?
Reference Universe is the ONLY cumulative index to Print and Electronic Reference works in existence. It is a single portal in your reference collection. Reference Universe not only searches much deeper than your Library catalogue, but also provides a better and more efficient finding tool than hopping from one resource/database to another looking for e reference works.

It searches much deeper than your Library catalogue
Library catalogues only provide information about the reference title. Whereas Reference Universe opens up the actual content within the Reference work, searching not only the reference title but also the complete back of the book index.

It will improve usage of your reference collection
Rather than searching endless shelves and hopping from one electronic resource to another performing individual searches. We match our database of over 36,000+ works against your holdings then all you need to do is create a link to Reference Universe on your Library homepage and the student can search seamlessly across your entire print and electronic reference collection.

Links to Electronic references
Reference Universe contains over 6 million links to nearly 2,000 reference titles from Gale Virtual Reference Library, Oxford Reference Online, ABC-CLIO ebooks, Routledge Reference Resources Online, LION, Sage, Greenwood, Credo, Taylor and Francis and Many more…

Use it as a Collection development tool
The Reference Universe system not only tells you what your library holds on any search term/phrase, but you have the option to view all the works published that your library does not yet own.

Key Facts:-
♦ Over 36,000 Titles
♦ Comprehensive Usage statistics – COUNTER and ICOLC compliant
♦ Z39.50 compatible
♦ Annual Subscription or One time purchase model available.

Some endorsements

Reference Universe has unlocked my reference collection. Through a single interface I can search my entire print reference and E-ref collections from Gale, Oxford, Greenwood, ABC-CLIO, Annual Reviews and many other vendors.”
— Sue Polanka, Head of Reference, Wright State University

“We don’t know what’s in our reference collections, print or electronic. Reference Universe makes the connection for us.”
— Don Hartman, Associate Librarian, University at Buffalo (SUNY)

19th Century Masterfile

Every important index to periodicals, books, patents, newspapers, and government documents available through a single search.

An Essential Database for Advanced Historical Research
For over 10 years, Paratext has been building 19th Century Masterfile to be the sine qua non for primary research study in pre-1930 materials.

A single search across all subject areas
19th Century Masterfile begins with an enhanced, expanded digitization of William F. Poole's seminal Index to Periodical Literature, and expands on this through massive digitization of over 60 unique, specialized indexes to books, newspapers, patents, and government documents published during the late 19th and early 20th century covering:

- More than 500,000 OpenURL links to JSTOR
- A nearly equal number of direct links to HEIN Online and EBSCO's America: History and Life and Historical Abstracts, are also available now.
- More than 1.2 million links to books, via your library's OpenURL resolver as well as through advanced links to Google Book Search.

Public Documents Masterfile

For the first time ever, federated searching of pre-1976 government documents data in tandem with the post-1976 GPO files!

Public Documents Masterfile assists in doing better research by providing electronic, single search access to the overwhelming majority of United States and International government publications from 1774 to date.

Moreover, Public Documents Masterfile has expanded to become a cumulative source for locating, cataloging, and distributing information provided by government entities from around the world.

Public Documents Masterfile is expanding continuously to help document librarians and library users unlock the research value of their documents collection.

Unlock the riches of public documents both within your own library and elsewhere, through a single, federated search resource.

-- Locate SuDoc numbers for pre 1976 GPO documents.
-- Locate and download cataloging records for government documents from multiple sources.
-- Link to your library OPAC to determine local holdings.
-- Enable research utilizing non-GPO government documents.
-- Promote broader multi-disciplinary use of government documents.
-- Provide users electronic access to current and archival government documents.
-- Employ the PDM widget on your home page or LibGuide to promote use of documents.
-- Provide electronic access to pre-1976 GPO documents not included in your OPAC.

PDM offers single access to resources you’ve come to know well, and those you might not even have thought to explore.

Public Documents Masterfile grows regularly as new data sources are added. These include:

- Post-1976 GPO Documents
- GPO Monthly Catalog Indexes 1895-1976 with Page/Entry Numbers and Depository Status
- Cumulative Title Index 1789-1976 with SuDocs Numbers
- Pre-1900 United States Public Documents
- Department of Energy Records, 1930- present
- International Public Documents (UNESCO, World Bank, OECD, etc.,)
- State and Provincial Public Documents (forthcoming)
- ERIC documents
- Non-GPO Public Documents Held by the Library of Congress.
- Non US Documents
