

Call for registrations – CAUL series on innovative university library responses to COVID-19

You are invited to register for the following two CAUL events. Please register by Monday the 22nd June 2020. If you have any questions please contact Harry Rolf at cpo@caul.edu.au

The events are targeted at university library staff and those interested in university library responses to COVID-19.

CAUL round table with university librarians on innovative library responses to COVID-19

When: Tuesday 23rd June at 2pm – 3.30pm AEST

Where: Zoom Webinar (Register¹)

The round table will host a discussion among university librarians from different parts of Australia and New Zealand about how university libraries are responding to changes in delivering services, university strategy and the national environment as they plan to re-open during the COVID-19 crisis.

The session will hear short presentations from six university librarians followed by discussion facilitated by CAUL's Executive Director Mark Sutherland. To help guide discussion registered participants will be sent a sli.do poll to capture questions and comments for the panel ahead of the session.

Proposed Topic	Panel Member	Institution
Block mode, digitally supported remote learning and the Library	Frances O'Neil	Victoria University
Purposeful partnerships across the University for COVID-19	Sue Owen	Federation University Australia
Managing risks in relation to service during COVID-19 - were they really risks at all?	Kim Lewin	Queensland University of Technology
Sustaining purpose and culture albeit remotely	Margie Jantti	University of Wollongong
New Zealand University Libraries move to Alert Level 4 and then reopening again - opportunities and challenges in the new normal.	Anne Scott	University of Canterbury
Staying Open Throughout COVID-19	Coral Black	University of Newcastle

¹ Registration URL: https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_Wsup47nfRjOalbUEzkxLHA

CAUL Webinar: Lightning talks by library staff on Innovative library responses to COVID-19

When: Thursday 25th June at 2pm - 3pm AEST

Where: Zoom Webinar (Register²)

This session will host a series of short five minute presentations by university library staff on innovative responses and new approaches to challenges faced during the COVID-19 crisis and updates on what has changed since the crisis unfolded. This is an opportunity for library staff to hear from colleagues about innovative or new approaches to shared challenges. We will record this session and share the outcomes with attendees to facilitate future sharing and discussion.

Presentation	Presenter(s)	Institution
Enhanced support to travel restricted students based in China	Pamela Good	University of South Australia
Insights from UWA Library's COVID19 client experience data	Alissa Sputore	University of Western Australia
Online Workshops Made Easy (with a lot of hard work)	Catherine Hay	Griffith University
Growing connection and building belonging: Online library support during COVID-19	Rowena McGregor and Kate Derrington	University of Southern Queensland
Empathy and story-telling: Supporting staff during the pandemic	Clare Thorpe	University of Southern Queensland
Going virtual at UON Libraries	Michael Paver	University of Newcastle
Community Legends	Amy Dale	University of Adelaide
Face shields for Healthcare workers in Regional Toowoomba	Steph Piper	University of Southern Queensland
The perfect storm: seizing COVID-created opportunities	Carlie Nekrasov and Kayleen Wardell	Southern Cross University

² Registration URL: https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_C9IlshctTJGA8v8BKtBFHpg